- Introduction grabs attention and provides meaningful context to a persuasive argument	- Introduction sparks some interest and effectively introduces reasonable argument	-Introduction provides context for the argument but is obvious and/or basic	- Introduction or conclusion does not flow with the argument of the paper
- Conclusion effectively restates the argument, but fresh language and meaningful insight leaves reader wanting more	- Conclusion restates arguments, but uses new language and shows understanding of the big picture	- Conclusion restates arguments, but recycles previous statements verbatim	- Introduction or conclusion contains blanket or vague statements; needs development to be effective
Argument is clearly articulated and persuasive, contains an original opinion	Thesis presents a reasonable opinion, argument is clear and focused	Thesis is a plausible argument; contains a legitimate opinion, but somewhat broad and basic	Thesis demonstrates misunderstanding of the prompt or text
Topic sentences contribute to the highly persuasive nature of the argument	Topic sentences articulate precise argument; logically linked to thesis	Topic sentences are present and make an argument connected to the thesis; however, ideas are obvious and basic	 Topic sentences are not linked to the thesis Topic sentences show misunderstanding or prompt or text
 You have chosen, for the most part, the best evidence to support your point Evidence is highly persuasive and effective in supporting your argument 	Your evidence is believable and convincing and supports your argument	Evidence is present, but superficial	Evidence chosen does not support thesis/topic sentences Textual evidence is irrelevant
Creative/original ideas and insights; extensive commentary, refreshing; goes beyond obvious and basic commentary	Analysis is believable and convincing, a few assertions may lack specific examples, but assertions are still clearly connected to the argument	Analysis supports your argument, but ideas are obvious and basic	Ideas lack development; misunderstanding of prompt or text; illogical argument;
Sophisticated vocabulary; sentence variety; quotations are correct and smoothly blended	Effectively blends direct quotation with explanatory words and phrases to introduce the quotation and facilitate narrative flow; still attempting advanced vocabulary	Blend quoted material smoothly; but sentence structure lack variety- basic and obvious; attempts to incorporate more advanced vocabulary	Problems with sentence clarity, redundancy; some quotes stand alone; some vague sentences; little use of class vocabulary or sentence variety
